9. Whilst the Customer is roaming in a destination designated by the Company, the Customer may under certain circumstances (e.g. cellular coverage spill over from neighboring destination due to geographic proximity of destinations) roam onto a different destination's network (the "Second Destination Network"). (Exception in the case for roaming in Macau or China where Macau and China shall be treated as two different destinations under this Clause 9). In the event that the Second Destination Network is included within those networks specified by the Company for Roaming Data Pack, the Company will also charge the Customer for roaming on the Second Destination Network according to the Roaming Data Pack.

10. Roaming Data Pack is only applicable for use on devices specified by the Company from time to time.

11. The Customer must use the data services under the Roaming Data Pack ("Data Services") with settings (including but not limited to the APN setting) and devices specified by the Company.
